The program was unusual in the The pupils of Miss Nannie Davis, of West Grace Street, gave their final recital on last Wednesday evening. The program was unusual in that even the youngest children played with perfect confidence, clear phrasing and clean execution. The older pupils gave their numbers in a manner most artistic and interesting, and characteristic of the whole was the musical insight of the pupils, combined with their brilliancy of execution. Many of the pleces were by such masters as Mozart, Beethoven, Bach, Gurlitt, Mendelssohn, Rubinstein and Richard Strauss.

Those pupils taking part were Mrs. W. H. Palmer, Miss Allee Blair, Miss Cella Martin, Misses Bessie Whittet, Eunice West, Margarita Domenechs, Louise Powers, Countess Seaton, Madeline Rigger, Elizabeth Tompkins, Annie Powers, Susie Blair, Lindsay Powers, Bessie Moon and Ellen Goodwin and Malcolm Straus.
